MEDICAL FAIR THAILAND showcases innovative products for in- and out-patient care including the world's first wireless wheelchair controller

In less than six weeks, MEDICAL FAIR THAILAND 2009, the International Exhibition on Hospital, Diagnostic, Pharmaceutical, Medical & Rehabilitation Equipment & Supplies will open its doors to all involved in medical and health care. This premier world-class exhibition will be held for the 4th time in Bangkok, Thailand and will be the meeting place for some 250 world leading companies committed in bringing the most advanced medical care technologies, products, solutions and services closer to healthcare professionals, trade and practitioners from across Thailand and the ASEAN neighbouring countries.

With its comprehensive product range and impressive line up of international exhibiting companies including national pavilions and groups from Austria, Belgium, China, Germany, Singapore, South Korea, Taiwan and United Kingdom, MEDICAL FAIR THAILAND has made its mark as one of the most important meeting points for industry experts from the medical and health care industry. Dedicated to meeting the healthcare developments, market demands and the needs of the medical industry, the exhibition will provide the best sourcing and networking platform to all related in the medical field and a launching pad for the latest equipment innovations and medical technologies.

MEDICAL FAIR THAILAND will provide visitors with exclusive insights and demonstrations of some of the latest cutting edge devices and equipment for better patient care. Some of these products are benchmark for the next generation of medical devices and rehabilitative equipment.

In the areas of rehabilitative care, visitors will see the world's first wireless wheelchair controller using Bluetooth protocol developed by Singapore based WINNER SG PTE LTD. This company is at the forefront when it comes to bringing new design and innovation to the disability market and is all geared up to revolutionize the latest technology for powered wheelchairs. Another exhibitor specializing in rehabilitation products is REHAB ASIA PTE LTD who will showcase the Chattanooga Group's range of rehabilitation products as well as braces and supports from DonJoy.

In accident and emergency services, exhibiting company DLOUHY GMBH's range of high-tech ambulances and special medical vehicles and mobile clinics to patient chairs will ensure the optimization of efficiency in daily operation.

Where patient warming systems and blood- and infusion- warmers are concerned, do visit BIEGLER GMBH. With 30 years of experience, they will be introducing their latest developments such as the blood and infusion warmer BW 685/S with special improved features and the emergency warmer ESH04 designed for mobile use. Another exhibitor, NUOVA GMBH will also be featuring new products in its line of monitoring accessories and respiratory products.

Manufacturers and suppliers of diagnostic kits will be also be present at MEDICAL FAIR THAILAND and this includes D-TEK, a leading biotechnology company who develops and manufactures diagnostic kits for all autoimmune diseases. D-TEK has developed an innovative range of ELISA and IMMUNODOT. Chinese exhibitor DA AN GENE CO LTD will be featuring their in-vitro diagnostic kits such as real-time PCR, ELISA and rapid diagnostic kits. PCR is an important molecular diagnostic technique for the identification of infections disease, viral load testing and the detection of inherited human genetic disorders. Other exhibitors include BLUE CROSS BIO-MEDICAL (BEIJING) CO LTD, INTEC PRODUCTS INC, SERION IMMUNDIAGNOSTICA GMBH, and WHPM BIORESEARCH & TECHNOLOGY CO LTD,

In the fields of medical technology, iSOFT, one of the world's largest providers of healthcare IT solutions, will demonstrate its technology that can help manage patient information and which will eventually drive improvements in core processes.
